Legal Experience:

Through a seven year litigation that started from a county court and ended at the U.S. Supreme Court, I have gained extensive hands-on experience, knowledge and insight about the American judicial system. My knowledge and experience includes civil procedure (state and federal), discovery, motion practice, trial testimony, rules of evidence, judges' discretions, standard of proof, appellate procedure, brief writing and oral arguments in American courts. I also have experience dealing with disciplinary actions within American judiciary. My experience is personal in nature and acquired from my close involvement in the seven-year litigation which involved many attorneys, legal experts, human rights leaders, trial and appellate judges and justices.

Communication Skills:

I excel in communicating with people from all kinds of cultures. I have been interviewed by major U.S. media and have excellent English skills in communicating ideas and thoughts to others.

Family Background:

A happy and stable family is the key to my life. I and my wife (Casey Luo) are blessed to have three lovely kids (aged 5, 7, and 9) who give us joy and strength on a daily basis. They are Anna Mae, Andy, and Avita, native speakers of English. well mannered and academically advanced.

Personality and language skills:

Friendly and patient, cooperative and dependable. My people communication skills are well recognized by my friends and colleagues.

Professional Goals:

Teaching English at different levels.

I am also interested in a visiting or adjunctive law school professorship with the aim of setting up a short course on American legal system, which will be valuable for Chinese law students in understanding American system in today's global economy.
